Starting November, Taiwan will have a new way to warn(警告) people about cold weather. The Central Weather Bureau(中央氣象局) says when the weather _____ very cold, the government(政府) will post low temperature(溫度) alerts (警報) in different colors.

Taiwan already has high temperature alerts. Yellow heat alerts tell people that the temperature could reach over 36°C that day. Orange alerts mean the temperature has been 36°C for three days, or will be 38°C that day. And red alerts are the highest level of warning, telling people that the temperature has reached 38°C for three days.

Now, starting this November 1st, there will be yellow, orange and red warnings to show "cold," "very cold," and "frigid" temperatures in non-mountainous areas throughout the country. That means the C-W-B will have yellow, orange, and red alerts for cold weather too. A yellow cold alert means we'll have temperatures below 10°C. An orange alert means the temperature will be under 12°C for more than 24 hours, or it will be under 6°C for that day. And a red cold alert is the most serious. A red means the temperature will be under a chilly 6°C for more than 24 hours.

The bureau says this new system will help people be better prepared for cold weather.

(I)He was so proud of his little girl. It was her very first day of school. He walked with her to school that day, And she held his hand all the way. They walked together quiet and sad, A little girl and her loving dad. Into the school her father led, But he almost cried when she said, "Daddy, Daddy, please don't go. Don't leave me here all alone. I'll miss you if you go away, And I might need you; can't you stay?" "Little Daughter, please don't cry. You'll be okay, so dry your eyes. You have our memories in your heart. We're together although we're apart ."	(II)He sat up front on her wedding day And cried as his daughter walked away. Later that night he watched her dance. He sat there waiting for his chance. The band started to play their song. Father and daughter danced along. She looked at him and saw a tear Then talked in his ear softly, "Daddy, Daddy, I have to go. I hate to leave you all alone. I'll miss you when I go away, But if you need me then I'll stay." "Little Daughter, I'll be just fine. I'll love you always; you are mine. I have our memories in my heart. We're together although we're apart ."	(III)She came in his room and kissed his head Then sat next to his hospital bed. He took her hand and held it tight And wished he had the strength(力量) to fight. They sat together, quiet and sad, A daughter and her dying dad. He saw the tears she tried to hide. She looked at him and then she cried. "Daddy, Daddy, please don't go. Don't leave me here all alone. I'll miss you when you go away. I still need you; you have to stay." "Little Daughter, I love you so. I want to stay but have to go. I'll always be here in your heart. We're together although we're apart ."

I'm Dylan Evans from the UK. Last April, I got the chance (40) in Taichung, Taiwan. My family and I had no idea where Taichung or Taiwan was. When I (41) to catch the bus to Taichung, I felt down...I couldn't recognize(辨別) any words on all of the signs because they (42) in Chinese, and a woman with a child even pointed at me and said to her son, "Look, a waiguoren."

A few days later, while I was walking in 一中商圈, some teenagers came up to me and asked me if they (43) a small talk with me or not. I said, "Sure." After that, I made my first Taiwanese friends. They were very warm-hearted and showed me around. They took me to 東海 University and 逢甲 Night Market. I had some famous snacks, like bubble milk tea. What an experience!

During the stay in Taiwan, I also learned from the news that Taiwanese people did a lot (44) animals. For example, millions of purple crow butterflies fly across a national highway, four-meter-high nets were set up to stop them from (45) by the traffic.

The longer time I stay in Taiwan, the more I love Taiwan. After I go back to the UK, I will move to Taiwan. At that time, Taiwan (46) my second home.
