(四) 閱讀測驗(8%)

Do you like comics? How much do you know about the people in comic books? Naruto in NARUTO(火影忍者), Luffy or Chopper in One Piece(海賊王)? Many of us may know them well, but because of the Marvel movies, we may know these following people more, like Iron Man, Ant-Man, Spider-Man, the Incredible Hulk(無敵浩克), Black Panther(黑豹), the Mighty Thor(雷神索爾), and the Fantastic Four(驚奇四超人). Who created these heroes? Stan Lee and his team did.

Who was Stan Lee? He was an American comic book writer who was active(活躍的) from the 1940s to the 2010s. He lived in a poor family, and his parents often fought with each other over the money. Also, he didn't have friends at school. In that hard time, reading helped him a lot. Because of his mother, in 1939 he began to work at a big company, which later became Marvel Comics. At Marvel, Lee and his team thought of many great characters(角色) such as Captain America and The Avengers(復仇者聯盟). Those superheroes in the comics had super power, but they weren't great, just like you and me. They weren't perfect, either. Their lives could come to an end.

Unlike other comic writers, Stan Lee played a part in many of his comic movies, like a man watering the garden, a man talking to Spiderman or even a person in the picture hanging on the wall. But it's a pity(遺憾) that we can't see him in movies or read his comics anymore because he died on the early morning of November 12, 2018.
